Alleviating Poverty in the United States and Around the Globe

WHOLE PLANET FOUNDATION

Our Work in the United States
Opportunities in Portland, Seattle/Tacoma, Vancouver and Walla Walla have recently been authorized and are soon to be funded.

Microcredit
funds her essential business.

Zara transformed a market table into a small shop that is run out of her home with microloans from Whole Planet Foundation's microfinance partner Yikri in Burkina Faso. She used her second microloan of 80000 XOF (about $150 USD) to buy new products like oil, flour, and soap for her larger shop. In the future she is hoping to add shoes, hair extensions and other higher value goods for sale. Zara has four children and also has taken in an orphaned relative. She is proud that her three oldest children are in school.

Whole Planet Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. Our mission is to alleviate global poverty where Whole Foods Market sources products.

USA Tax ID # 20-2376273
Where Does the Money Go?*

Whole Planet Foundation works to alleviate poverty in communities where Whole Foods Market sources products.

5.2 MILLION Microcredit Loans Funded

$46.8 MILLION From Whole Foods Market customers

$37.6 MILLION From Whole Foods Market

$15.3 MILLION From Whole Foods Market suppliers

$10.7 MILLION From Whole Foods Market team members

$2.8 MILLION From corporate donors

$1.6 MILLION From individual donors

$295,000 From events

Where Does the Money Come From?*

$93 MILLION Gross disbursed to microfinance institutions

$103 MILLION Authorized to microfinance institutions

$174 Average First Loan

93% Repayment Rate

88% Women Clients

Photos courtesy of Whole Planet Foundation's Brian Doe

Donate Today

Whole Planet Foundation is proud to be rated Guidestar Platinum.

Thank you to 2021 Top Donors

Thank you for your generosity!

WHOLEPLANETFOUNDATION.ORG